THE CAPITAL JOURNAL.

HOFER BROTHERS, - - - Editors.
 PUBLISHED DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY, BY THE Capital Journal Publishing Company. (Incorporated.)
 Office, Commercial Street, in P. O. Building entered at the postoffice at Salem, Or., as second-class matter.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

At the close of the week THE JOURNAL likes to have a little chat with its readers when it feels like it, and whether they feel like it or not. If they do not feel in a chatty mood they can drop this column right here and invade the telegraph, local or miscellaneous columns and they may be far the wiser for it. We feel a certain pride in having those departments well edited that we do not feel in our Saturday Night talks, because they are the result of co-laborers whose faithfulness and industry we do admire in the making of a newspaper.

Saturday night is a relief in one way, as it marks the close of labors. It is a relief to know that the worry, exertion, strife and friction of another week are over. Whether fighting a winning or a losing battle, the agony is one round nearer the close.

The average man can not pass a week without displaying his weak points, or making a fool of himself in some form or other. There are those who pretend to be able to do so but they are persons to be avoided Saturday nights when you are in no mood for humbugs.

But esteemed reader why shall not the editor have the privilege of acting and being a fool at times as well as yourself? He has more occasion to do so, by far, than are ever offered to you. Did he as often improve them as you do, for the chances offered, you would call him a double-dunce fool indeed. For is he not called upon to act in a score of matters daily and to express himself upon a hundred subjects in each issue? Can he be human and be infallibly right upon all points? You will hardly expect it. So let us admit we are all liable to do the not wise thing occasionally.

But here comes one wiser than the editor and sits down with us and proceeds to tell how he would run the paper. He would make a great fight on this other subject. He admits all the good you do and all the hard fighting against evils which he agrees with the editor are evils, and monster evils, too. But he would have the editor do still more good and do good in other ways which he can see clearly ought to be done, etc., but which no one seems to be taking hold of, and which but few see as he sees them. If the editor will not do that he must be cast off into outer darkness. And you, my Saturday Night reader, we would have no more good times together. But I think we shall. We shall travel along pleasantly enough and our friend may travel with us. He cannot force us to regard him as an enemy for we are not in that mood. We shall get along together with peace and good will if we cannot run our reform agitations into all the more or less navigable channels that are opening on every side.

ATTRACTION PUBLIC ATTENTION.

The Marion county court has been accused of doing crooked work in the way of allowing exorbitant claims. Recent action on the part of the court does not place it in a creditable light before the public. The law requires the court to designate two papers in the county in which publication of allowances made shall be published. The court made the order but only allowed a cent a square for compensation, a rate of less than 25 cents a column. It is evident they do not propose to allow their proceedings to be held up to the public gaze.—Eugene Guard.

The JOURNAL does not like to say much about this matter as it looks too much like pleading the case for its own benefit. But the publishers were charged with that before the law was enacted. To test public sentiment among a very conservative and intelligent class of taxpayers, the bill and the probable expense of the same was fully discussed before Marion county grand jury, and it unanimously recommended the law as a public safeguard against extravagance and a measure of economy.

Nearly everybody also knows as a fact that this identical law is in force in nearly all the older states of the Union and has been for many years, and that there is no trouble in operating it, and that is regarded as a necessary means of protecting the public against corruption and jobbery in county affairs, and lets the people know what is being done with the public money right along. THE JOURNAL has not charged the county court and commissioners with jobbery. It has never indulged in such criticisms. But it does know that efforts were made six months ago when this law really went into effect to prevent a legal publication of court proceedings. It believes the same effort has again prevailed. It leaves the matter with the public. Its skirts are clear. There may be newspapers in this county averse to seeing the full light turned on county affairs. THE JOURNAL is not one of them.

 It is only necessary to add that this law was put in force six months ago in many counties of this state, and will be put fully in force in every county in the state this month, wherever newspapers can be found to undertake the publication.
SUGGESTED COMMENT.
 What has become of the Salem Republican club?
 German coach stallions are being brought to this country. What has become of the American horse?
 The adoration of the bulk of the Republican party for Blaine is pitiable.—Seattle Telegram.
 The adoration of the bulk of the Democratic party is on the wane. The party are rapidly going over to Hill.
 Did not the Democratic legislative caucus cast its unanimous vote for Bernard Goldschmidt for United States senator? Did not Bernard manage the campaign that elected Governor Penneyer? Did not the governor endorse Hon. J. O. Simon for a life judgeship? What are certain Democrats kicking at the Hebrew children for anyhow?
 The Portland Telegram will accept congratulations upon its improved appearance, printed as it is from nice large new type and a brand-new press. Col. Moffett has been a welcome addition to the opinion writers on the Oregon press, being unusually fair, clear and able. There is nothing small about THE JOURNAL even in noticing improvements in its only rival locally.
 The Forestry building at the Chicago world's fair is supported with solid columns contributed by all the different states. Oregon is not a contributor. It is too bad Oregon's state government has so far taken no part in the world's fair in any way. This will be one of the vital matters that the next legislation ought to attend to. Oregon can not exist entirely cut off from, and indifferent to, the rest of the nation. Certainly she does not use her wings to advantage so far.
A Correction.
 ED. JOURNAL: In your issue of the 13th inst, I see it reported that "Geo. W. White delivered an address on the injurious effects of alcohol on the human system. That it was an able effort and treated logically and scientifically. Mr. White is to deliver a series of lectures for the club." Now this would be all right were it not pretty much all wrong. Although the good brother did the best he could Mr. White is not engaged to deliver a series of lectures for the club. Mr. White occupied fifteen minutes in reading and speaking. He was followed by a good one-half hour's address by J. P. Robertson.
 Mr. Robertson spoke very ably and to the point. In the language of President Jory, "500 people should have heard him."
 The meetings of the club are brimful of interest. There are

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Strongest, Purest, Most Economical.

Certain baking powder makers are publishing falsified extracts from the Government reports, with pretended analyses and certificates, wherein an attempt is made to compare their baking powders with the "Royal," or making bogus tests from house to house, their obvious purpose being to counteract the recent exposures of the inferiority of their own goods arising from their impurity, low strength, and lack of keeping qualities as shown by the Government chemists and others.

As to whether any of these baking powders are equal to the "Royal," the official tests clearly determine. When samples of various baking powders were purchased from the grocers, and analyzed by the United States Government Chemists and the Chemists of State and City Boards of Health, the reports revealed the fact that the "Royal" contained from 28 per cent. to 60 per cent. more leavening strength than any other cream of tartar baking powder, and also that it was more perfectly made, of purer ingredients, and altogether wholesome.

As these powders are sold to consumers at the same price, by the use of the Royal Baking Powder there is an average saving of over one third, besides the advantage of assured purity and wholesomeness of food, and of bread, biscuit, and cake made perfectly light, sweet, and palatable—advantages not to be had in the use of the low-grade, cheaply made baking powders that contain lime, alum, and other impurities.

GENERAL NEWS NOTES.

Crook county has 215,000 sheep. John Colver of Crook county, has tired of waiting for the government to make an appropriation for sinking artesian wells in Eastern Oregon, and next summer will sink one on his own hook on his place on Camp creek. He expects to get artesian water at a depth of less than 200 feet, as artesian water has been struck at a depth of a little over 100 feet a short distance above his place.
 Mr. Ware of Sweet Home, Linn county, who had not heard from any of his people for thirty-one years, was recently apprised of their whereabouts, somewhere in Missouri, by the medium of an advertisement in the Louisville Courier-Journal, and the other day received a telegram from them. He purchased a ticket at the Southern Pacific depot and started back to see them.

During the Heppner races last fall Henry Blackwell, of Fox Valley, was made the loser of a fine solid gold watch in a rather peculiar manner. The horses in a certain race had effected a start when Mr. Blackwell wagered his gold watch against a silver watch on one of the animals, both watches being placed in the hands of a Pendleton horse trainer. Henry won the bet, but when wanting his watches the stake holder was not to be found. The man in whose hands the watches were placed wore a full beard, and seeing a chance to hold on to the property, made for the barber shop and had that wonderful glossy crop of whiskers removed, thus rendering him a stranger to almost every one, and especially to Mr. Blackwell, and today he is still in possession of the watches.

East Oregonian: The roads to Pendleton are in bad condition. Since the sale of the reservation lands travel has been greatly impeded and some trade has been cut off. Pendleton is too enterprising and progressive a place to be deaf to the importance of good roads. Money spent on good thoroughfares is money well invested. The city council and the county court, as well as the citizens and business men should not procrastinate in this matter. "All roads led to Rome," and this alone made Rome a great city. All roads should lead to Pendleton, and they should be good roads, and no expense should be spared to keep them in good condition.

Roseburg Review: The examination of T. J. Fueston, of Hudson, in this city last week cost the county $165.40, of which $88 was for mileage for the eleven witnesses who testified. This latter item would have been done away with almost entirely had the suit been tried before the nearest justice, and the county board, though they must allow it, think that much unnecessary expense has been made. Adding the cost of binding Lewis over for selling liquor without a license, which grew out of the same scrape, the entire cost will probably foot up $250, and both cases must go through the grand jury and probably into the circuit court.

Miss Douglas, when she was brought from the car, was literally enveloped in flames. She will probably recover. The women were nearly nude, but were wrapped up as they were taken out. The bodies of the two women burned to death were charred beyond all recognition, the heads, legs and arms being entirely gone. Ed. Andrews rescued his little baby and supposed his wife was safe. He is wild with grief. Members of the company lost all their possessions except their stage clothes.
THOUGHT $40 WAS ENOUGH.
 MILWAUKEE, Jan. 16.—Court Commissioner Ryan has rendered his decision in the suit of C. W. Briggs against George Hiles, the millionaire for $13,000, allowing the plaintiff $8000. The suit was brought in the circuit court and was heard before Commissioner Ryan as referee. Mr. Briggs was Mr. Hiles' attorney for several years, and was engaged in several sensational suits. When he presented his bill for services, Hiles refused to pay it on the ground that Briggs was paid $40 a month by him as a salary. The lawyer, on the other hand, alleged that the $40 a month was merely his salary for the work done for railroads in which Hiles was interested. This bill for

TRAIN WRECKED.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 16.—A special train, carrying the Andrews opera company, was derailed near Brainerd, on the Northern Pacific.

The second section of No. 9, with the Andrews opera company on board, left West Superior at midnight for Grand Forks. Near Jonesville the train struck a broken rail, the engine and baggage car passing over in safety, but the sleeping car was derailed. It toppled over, breaking loose from the train, and went down an embankment five feet high, lying on its side. Soot the windows were broken to liberate those inside. The flames shot out, and in very short order the car was enveloped. The trainmen soon liberated those unable to extricate themselves, but none were able to save their clothes, and the night being the coldest of the season, the sufferings of the injured were terrible. At this time it was discovered that Mrs. Andrews and Lillie were missing, but no human efforts could render them assistance, as the car was a mass of flames. They were burned to death. The injured were placed in a baggage car and brought to Brainerd and quartered at the Arlington hotel.

Florence Joy was severely burned on the back and head, and will probably die; May Douglas, Miss Letitia French, Mrs. L. F. Barker, Miss Marie Roe, George Andrews, Miss Ella Harris, J. C. Taylor, H. Allen, Miss Jones and L. F. Barker were injured more or less seriously.

Miss Douglas, when she was brought from the car, was literally enveloped in flames. She will probably recover. The women were nearly nude, but were wrapped up as they were taken out. The bodies of the two women burned to death were charred beyond all recognition, the heads, legs and arms being entirely gone. Ed. Andrews rescued his little baby and supposed his wife was safe. He is wild with grief. Members of the company lost all their possessions except their stage clothes.
